GT85 Lubrication/Cleaning Spray (with PTFE)

The Product of Choice for Professionals the World Over

GT85 is a general purpose lubricating/cleaning spray with PTFE that is the ideal product for use where non-sticky lubrication is required, such as in cylinders and other window and door hardware. The spray flushes out dirt and grit to leave a clean, lubricated surface coated in PTFE. The PTFE element acts as a long-term deep penetrator and surface finisher for metal, nylon and plastic parts. This means that moving parts remain lubricated with no residue to attract dirt in the future

GT85 is a strong penetrating oil that effectively frees rusted bolts and hinges etc.

We are delighted to add GT85 to our range as it is the lubricant of choice for professionals in a wide range of industries including engineering, sport, machinery and transport. In terms of our industry, GT85 is perfect for lubricating moving hardware items such as hinges, friction stays, and window and door locks (lock cases AND locking points). It is an effective water displacer so is ideal for lubricating cylinders, and each tin is supplied with an applicator nozzle to ensure the product gets right into the keyway. Its water displacement properties will also help start a damp engine so it really is the only spray the window repairer or manufacturer needs! Compare it to other penetrating sprays and you'll be glad you carry GT85.

What is PTFE?

Discovered in 1938, PTFE (polytetrafluoroethylene) is a polymer with an extremely low friction profile. It is very strong and stable at all temperatures. It serves us daily in the form of non-stick coating on many everyday products.

GT85 is supplied in a 400ml can with CFC-free propellant and is non-carcinogenic so is environmentally-friendly and completely safe to use.
